KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT
You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

- Credit Risk. Refers to the risk of losses that an investor is exposed to due to a borrower's failure to pay the principal and/or interest on instruments such as bonds, loans, or other forms of securities. The borrower's inability to fulfil its financial obligations may be due to adverse changes in its financial condition thus, lowering the credit quality and/or price of the security.
- Counterparty Risk. Refers to the risk of a counterparty defaulting on a contract to deliver its obligation in cash, securities or even services.
- Liquidity Risk. Refers to the risk of losses that an investor is exposed to due to the inability to convert assets into cash immediately or when the conversion is possible but only at a lower price. Such may be caused by holding securities with small or few outstanding issues, inadequate buyers, infrequent trading activity or underdeveloped capital market.
- Market Risk. Refers to the risk of losses that an investor is exposed to due to the unanticipated change in the prices of securities or macroeconomic variables that influence the financial markets.
- Interest Rate Risk. Refers to the risk of loss that an investor is exposed to due to changes in interest rates. The purchase and sale of fixed income securities, for example, may result in a loss because the price of the security may decline if interest rates rise.
- Reinvestment Risk. Refers to the risk that an investor is exposed to the possibility of getting lower returns or earnings upon reinvestment of maturing funds and/or interest earnings.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

In Q2 2025, Philippine inflation fell to multi-year lows, highlighting the diverging monetary policies of the BSP and the US Fed amid global uncertainty.

Headline inflation fell well below the BSP's 2%–4% target range, registering at 1.8% year-on-year in April, 1.4% in May, and 1.3% in June. This downtrend was largely attributed to easing rice prices and stable energy costs. In response, the BSP implemented a cumulative 50-basis-point rate cut, lowering its policy rate to 5.25% in an effort to support domestic growth. Meanwhile, the US Federal Reserve kept rates unchanged, adopting a cautious stance amid uncertainty. This followed delayed tariff announcements and rising geopolitical tensions—especially between Israel and Iran—which kept global bond markets on edge throughout the quarter.

Peso bond yields ended Q2 mixed, with a steeper curve and benchmark rates closing at:

- 5.72% for the 2-year (-3 bps),
- 5.94% for the 5-year (+4 bps),
- 6.28% for the 10-year (+8 bps), and
- 6.59% for the 20-year (+27 bps).

BSP monetary policy easing would provide a positive backdrop for bonds. However, US trade policy and geopolitical shifts may drive near-term volatility. The funds maintain a cautious stance by staying near neutral.

[3] Returns are net of fees.
[4] Duration measures the expected change in the portfolio's bond prices to a 1% change in interest rates.
[5] Volatility measures the degree to which the Fund fluctuates vis-à-vis its own average return over a period of time (standard deviation of returns).
[6] Tracking Error is the volatility of the returns of the Fund over and below the returns of its corresponding benchmark (BPHIL INDEX from inception to April 30, 2024 and IBXXPHP5 Index from May 01, 2024) (standard deviation of excess returns of the Fund vis-a-vis its benchmark). The lower the Tracking Error, the closer the Fund's composition is vis-à-vis its benchmark. A Tracking Error equal to 0% means the Fund is fully replicated to its benchmark.
