
RISK DISCLOSURES | WARNING

The value of the investment may change in relation to changes in market value of the funds. The price at the time of redemption may be lower or higher than the price at the time of subscription.

Any reference to historical data should not be interpreted as projections to future performance servicing. Past performance is not indicative of future returns. References to historical prices are for illustration purposes only.

It is expected that the investor has read the plan rules prior to investing. Should there be queries, these should be communicated to an AIAIM PH authorized representative.